A search bar is visible. The main content area features a news article titled '3rd INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON COMMAND AND LEADERSHIP'. The article includes a photograph of a group of people in military uniforms standing in front of a building. The text of the article describes the event, which took place on February 15 and 16, 2018, at the Academia Militar - Campus da Amadora. It mentions that the academy is the first public university to confer a master's degree in 'Leadership' and highlights its commitment to organizing seminars, conferences, and symposia at both national and international levels. The article also notes that the organization of this event, held in Portugal, provided an opportunity for discussion and analysis related to command and leadership in the military, involving various institutions and organizations.
