How to Become a Military Officer in the Slovak Armed Forces:

In Slovakia, the basic education of the military Army and Air Force officers is joint and provided by the General Milan Ratislav Stefanik Armed Forces Academy. The vocational training is alternatively assured by the Academy, for the basic military training notably, and the application schools and the units for the regular training.

The academic education, which leads to the award of a bachelor degree, is already fully integrated in the European Higher Education Area but the Academy intends to continue this dynamic in implementing new aspects in the education of the Slovak military officers.

Before and beyond basic education

The future military officers are recruited among the young nationals who are graduated from secondary education and who comply with medical, physical and psychological standards. In addition, the candidates must successfully pass an entrance examination, which includes tests on the knowledge of the English language.

In the course of their career, the Slovak officers will receive additional education and training at advanced level and will be invited to convene again at the Academy, for example, for the International Staff Officers' Course or their doctoral studies.
