Administrative Information

1. Objectives and Description

The Norwegian Military Academy will conduct the international module OPS2205 – Complex International Operations from 5 January to 13 March 2026.

The course carries 15 ECTS and provides a comprehensive understanding of complex military operations in contemporary conflict environments. It focuses on planning, leading, and executing operations in a joint, interagency, and multinational context. Participants develop insight into the integration of tactical, operational, and strategic levels of war, while strengthening critical thinking, leadership skills, and cultural awareness. For more information about the module follow the link.

During the International Week in week 7, staff from participating nations will be invited to observe and exchange perspectives on how the Norwegian Military Academy conducts education and training within the field of complex operations. The purpose is to promote mutual understanding, institutional cooperation, and the exchange of best practices in officer education.

2. Methods and Outcomes

The module combines lectures, case studies, war gaming, and field exercises. It emphasizes understanding the dynamics of modern conflicts, hybrid threats, and the role of military forces in crisis management and peace operations.

Learning outcomes include:

- Understanding of the complexity of modern operations and the comprehensive approach.
- Ability to analyze operational environments and contribute to planning processes.
- Enhanced intercultural competence and cooperation in multinational contexts.
- Broader awareness of leadership and ethical dilemmas in operations.

3. Evaluation Form

Complex International Operations is subject to Pass/Fail assessment
